LETTER OF RECOMMENDATION

354/UN11.3.10/KM.00.02/2023

To whom it may concern,

This letter is my personal recommendation for Mr. Edward Nicholas to support his studies in master degree program.

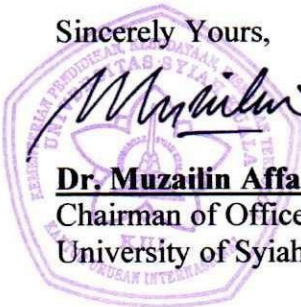

I have known him since September 2019 in my capacity as the chairman of OIA. So I have learned a great deal about his capabilities and attitude, and I know he will do well for the opportunity given for him to expand his knowledge and experience. I found he is a smart, multi-talented, diligent, and high-motivated person. He has done his job well with high-responsibility, leadership, and teamwork capability while working collaboratively as students in the OIA activities. His performance was advancing continually. During his activity in OIA, I observed Mr. Edward has a good curiosity, creativity, and integrity. He is enthusiastic to dedicate himself even as a volunteer. He is an amiable person that he was willing to share his knowledge to the other staffs. If he had a problem, he always recognized the problem and developed the possible solution. His loyalty and eager to learn new things made him as a multi-talented person. As he studied in Universitas Syiah Kuala, Mr. Edward often interacted with both local and international students that arranged by our office.

Since his vision is to broaden his knowledge, I understand that he aims to further his study. I believe that in his next degree, he would be a well-rounded person if he become part of students in the university. Letter of Recommendation

I am writing to you today to express my delight and support for Edward Nicholas's application to your prestigious institution.

When Edward was granted a scholarship and enrolled in the international economics development course offered by the Economics and Business department at the University of Syiah Kuala, I got to know him for the first time. In that class, he showed writing and economic development analytical skills that were well high, and above those of the majority of his classmates. It was an honour to serve as his vice-rector for his senior honours research projects because of his love for economic development and contemporary economics research analysis. He also completed other classes with us in advanced economic development studies and he was one of the students who had the highest cumulative score for our batch 2019 students.

Edward's sharp intellect enables him to not only comprehend the foundational concepts of our program but also to create incredibly creative and compelling interpretive arguments. He is one of our top undergraduate economic development students in our courses on international economic development and exhibits exceptional leadership abilities and organization skills while guiding group projects. Additionally, he has strong presenting skills and is an adorable and captivating speaker.

As a result, I am certain that Edward will prove to be a substantial asset to your organizational department as a graduate student, economist, and/or research assistant. Any support to employ him in your organization would be greatly appreciated.

If there is any further information, I can offer to assist you in making your decision, just let me know.

Sincerely,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

As an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Economics and Business, Syiah Kuala University, I am pleased to write this recommendation letter for Edward Nicholas to support his studies in the master's program.

I have known Edward for four years as my student in Macroeconomics, Applied Calculus, and Academic Writing classes at the Department of Development Economics, Universitas Syiah Kuala, Banda Aceh, Indonesia. I was also his supervisor for his Bachelor's degree thesis writing.

To the best of my knowledge, Edward has shown to be diligent, enthusiastic, and highly motivated among foreign students and the Gambian students taking my classes. This is evidenced by his excellent grades and prompt completion of his undergraduate study.

His economics knowledge and skills in applying econometric models and statistical software made him successful in his studies. He is the type of person who is always eager to learn and succeed. He seeks new opportunities, then gain and share experience. He has good writing and fair communication skills. His excellent personality would make him easy to associate with people.

Given his eagerness and potential, I am sure he can further his master's degree and other higher degree programs.

Should you need further inquiries, please do not hesitate to contact me.
