PROFILE

I am currently taking Bachelor of Data Science in the University of Newcastle in Australia. I am a young and energetic blockchain and cryptocurrency enthusiast who always willing to change, update and learn new things. Moreover, I believe that Data could be an enormous field in the future which requires many resources to take advantage from it and that is what I am trying to achieve! I always try to do everything as best as I can so that I can reach my goal earlier. I am excited to further develop my expertise and make a positive impact in the realm of data analysis.
