Skills: Blockchain, ether/web3.js, Solidity, NFT

CV:

Hello, I'm Yunus.

I have had a lot of work experience simultaneously for 16 years. I have many interesting titles from hookah business to waitress, from graphic design to being a full stack developer. People like me are messy people. Most of the time I get tired of checking what is where. I have many projects that I am developing and that I am currently considering. But I'm sorry that I can't give you an accurate presentation in the middle of this mess. Also sorry for my bad english. I'm writing these through your amazing translate app. Isn't it very advanced?

I've been following blockchain technology since the dark surface of the internet. Even though you are just getting to know each other, we have been shopping with bitcoin since 2010. My first purchase was to buy the Assassins Creed game from the dark web for 7 bitcoins. Assassins Creed has no value these days. I just found out that you have hired a developer for web3 even though it was a late decision. And while I was starting to think that my field is now working to get rid of this country (Turkey), I thought of applying for this posting.
