Correspondent Banks Network

Despite the current circumstances, EN Bank has maintained extensive ties with a good number of banks in Central Asia, Europe, Middle East and Southeast Asia, to meet customer needs and demands for import and export transactions.

Affiliation

- EN Bank holds a close relationship with the IDB (Islamic Development Bank)
- EN Bank is a member and shareholder of the ITFC (International Islamic Trade Finance Corporation)

Private Banking

The high net worth investor segment has been significantly growing in Iran, with no real providers of private banking services in the country until recently. Lack of such facilities in the Iranian financial market has traditionally resulted in potential private banking customers to have to manage their assets themselves, losing focus on the management of their main businesses and risking their wealth in unknown territories.

We at EN Bank are, therefore, proud as a pioneering bank to be the first entity in the Islamic Republic of Iran to provide private banking services to our high net worth customers.

Private banking encompasses personal one-to-one services that are tailor-made for the clients possessing a certain level of wealth. It is an attempt to find creative solutions to complicated situations to help affluent individuals and their families to manage their wealth and develop new sources of wealth for their future generations.

Challenges Ahead

EN Bank has been the key player in the private banking industry in Iran for the past three years. However, competition is expected to gain momentum over the coming years as other banks have begun to contemplate entering the private banking realm in the country.

Our main focus at present is placed on wealth management. While we have improved the services on offer and increased the number of our representative offices, we understand that the key to success is the ability to continuously enhance and adapt modern private banking products and services to local demands.

Currently, there are no regulatory obstacles on the products we offer, as they are consistent with the Islamic Banking Regulations. The challenge is to familiarize potential customers with our private banking services.

EN Bank Private Banking for the Iranians Living Abroad

The Iranian expatriate population is growing into millions across the world, with estimated billions of dollars in total assets. Therefore, we are aiming to market our private banking services to our fellow citizens residing outside Iran.
