GEORGE DONNELLY Freelance Technical Content Writer

Transforming complex ideas into engaging stories that drive results

me@georgedonnelly.com | +1 (215) 360 3513 | GeorgeDonnelly.com

As a seasoned writer, strategist and coder, I specialize in transforming complex ideas into engaging stories that drive results. With a deep understanding of the ever-evolving worlds of Web3, cryptocurrency, and IT, I craft compelling content that not only informs but also captivates audiences.

My unique background, which includes pioneering Bitcoin adoption in Latin America, founding a successful web hosting company, and authoring science fiction novels, allows me to approach each project with a diverse skill set and fresh perspective.

By leveraging my expertise in writing, coding, and project management, I help businesses effectively communicate their message, build lasting connections with their target market, and achieve their growth objectives.

Testimonials

"Every project that George gets involved with is successful. Tasks are completed on time and with a fluidity that allows for ever changing circumstances. George's enthusiasm and professionalism is infectious and brings out the best in others as well as a desire to be part of anything George is associated with." – E.H.

"George is an excellent communicator and has a knack for really distilling complex ideas in a way that makes them easy to understand. In my experience he has always treated others with utmost respect, and he'd be a great asset for any organization that needs someone with his skills." – D.Z.

"I'm always lucky to get George on my team. He has a rare mix of principles, skills and drive. I highly recommend George, especially for social media, video and web related projects." – J.B.

"George has vision, integrity, and energy. Any one of these qualities would set him apart, but the combination of the three make him a force to be reckoned with! He would be a valuable addition to any project." – M.T.

"George is one of the best project managers I've worked with. His communication was timely and relevant. The conference went as scheduled. George was prepared with instructions and technical support for all the presenters. I'm looking forward to working with him at our next conference in the fall." - W.P.

"Quite apart from George Donnelly's professionalism and genuine talent as an editor, working with him on a recent book project was great fun. I cannot stress the latter strongly enough because being edited is usually a stressful and damnably annoying process. How he made me want to come back for more is an act that raises him out of the ranks of muggles. I would work with George again in a flash." — W.M.
