

Traduction (anglais)

Title: The Importance of Online Work for Young People in Africa

Online work is a real opportunity for young Africans. Thanks to the Internet, they can offer their services to clients all over the world, without having to travel. This allows them to develop their skills, earn money, and become independent. All it takes is motivation, a good Internet connection, and a bit of training to get started.